

Reading the codes

All courses offered on campus for this semester are listed in the following pages. Courses in the 100 and 200 series are lower-level courses usually for freshmen and sophomores; 300 and 400 series are upper-level courses for juniors and seniors; 500, 600, 700 and 800 series courses are graduate-level courses.

Students usually must have a bachelor's degree to enroll in graduate-level courses; however, certain undergraduate students with the permission of the departments and the students' advisers may take some 500-level courses.

Please note: The university reserves the right to discontinue any course announced in this schedule because of low enrollment or other reasons deemed sufficient by the university. To ensure high academic standards, the university reserves the right to close registration in a course after the maximum enrollment has been reached. In addition, the university reserves the right to make changes in faculty, fees or schedules as necessary.

VCU Honor System

Congratulations on your enrollment at Virginia Commonwealth University. You are a member of a community of learning at VCU. All members of this unique community, including faculty, students and administrators, have agreed to act with honor and integrity in all matters. As a student at VCU, you will be expected to practice personal and academic integrity; respect the rights and property of others; honor the rights of others to their opinions, and strive to learn from the differences in people, ideas and cultures.

In the academic community, the practice of academic integrity is of the highest priority. The honor system obligates each student to understand the types of conduct that are unacceptable, to refrain from acts of cheating and plagiarism, and to report those who violate these standards. The honor system assumes that each student's word can be trusted implicitly and that a violation of a student's word is a violation against the whole university community. The system's effectiveness depends upon each student's acceptance of responsibility for it. For example, a student who cheats creates at least three problems for self and others: loss of knowledge that may be beneficial in the future; an unfair advantage over classmates who have not cheated; and the possibility of forming a pattern of accepting lower standards of behavior that could lead to unethical conduct in other areas.

Your attention is directed to the VCU Honor System as printed in the VCU Resource Guide. You should be certain to obtain a copy of this publication, which is available from several distribution points on the campus, including the Commons and the e2 Bookstore. Many of your professors will be discussing this policy and describing their expectations for your behavior in classes at the first class session.

The Honor System utilizes the Honor Pledge, which states, "On my honor, I have neither given nor received aid on this assignment." Instructors may give assignments to students in one of two ways: (1) as "Pledged" work, for which the student will sign a pledge statement indicating that the work was completed independently, or (2) as "Unpledged" work, which may be completed in collaboration with others as directed by the instructor. All work is considered to be pledged unless the instructor specifies otherwise.

It is your responsibility to be aware of, and to observe, the VCU Honor System and all of the policies and regulations at VCU. If you have a question about a policy, please feel free to call or stop by the office of the dean of student affairs, consult with your faculty adviser, or ask to see someone in the office of the dean of your school or college.
